PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Fellow Troopers,

Ever wonder "why me" and not someone else who died in Vietnam? I sure have, and I imagine many others have too. It is part of a normal response to our combat experience. After many years to reflect and a lifetime of reading and studying war and its impact on soldiers like us, I am convinced that such thoughts can either cause us to allow guilt to plunge us into despair, or we can recognize and be grateful for the incredible gift of life, now long and full for old warriors such as we. So much of what happens in battle truly is random. So how might we choose to use the gift of life in our remaining years?

I submit that, first; we must never forget those who did not come home with us. It can truly be said that there, but for the grace of God, would I lie with my name etched in black granite or white marble. Let us therefore take upon ourselves the solemn duty of continuing to remember our fallen brothers and honoring their memory, not just when we gather for our reunions, but as often as we stop to think about our war and what will always be our duty until we too cross over to Fiddlers Green to join our brothers lost in their youth. Second, let us resolve to live as well as we can every day no matter what comes along. Life is to be lived as fully as possible with those we love and to whom we are bound by the brotherhood of battle. This year has been especially challenging for all of us who are in the high risk group for the novel coronavirus. That has meant sacrifices we haven't wanted to make in terms of being unable to travel and be with our loved ones and our buddies from long ago. It has interrupted our brotherhood as members of this wonderful association of the 5/7 Cavalry. We have had to cancel gathering at the Memorial Wall on Memorial Day and our biennial reunion in Hot Springs. Please plan to be present when we meet there next year! Even our November reunion this coming Veterans Day is uncertain for the moment. So let us find other ways to stay connected until we can be together again in person to celebrate our shared sacrifices and the fact that we answered the call to duty when our country called.

No one can do more for this great country that was born when the Declaration of Independence proclaimed something never before attempted in world history. We were to be a nation of free people based on the consent of the governed, not the might of the conqueror or the divine right of kings to rule over others. We claimed certain inalienable rights granted not by man, but by God. That beginning included many imperfections, the most glaring of which would lead to over 600, 000 deaths in a great civil war fought to end slavery, the only war in human history fought to end that abominable practice. This July 4 as we celebrate our Independence Day let us rededicate ourselves as American combat veterans to continue to strive together toward a deeper understanding and a more perfect union of free people whom we served at the risk of our lives when we were young and soldiers. I look forward to seeing you when we can safely meet again. Meanwhile, stay as safe as you can, take care of yourself and your loved ones, and be well.

Garry Owen! Howard

1st Vice President's Report

Greetings Troopers and families!

Well, to say the past few months have been interesting would be quite an understatement. We have, regrettably, had to reschedule our Reunion to next summer and we had no formal Memorial Day events here in the DC area this year. I am hoping that we will be able to have our annual gathering for Veterans Day though, and I am closely monitoring the phased reopening plans of DC and Northern Virginia. As things progress, the other officers and I will keep you informed through periodic updates on this.

I was elated to have a member of our Association in my first class in my new role as Program Manager of the Keystone course at National Defense University. Keystone is a professional military education course designed for Command Senior Enlisted Leaders currently serving in or slated to serve in a general level joint headquarters. Attendance is highly selective and competitive. Command Sergeant Major Thomas Kenny, who served as the B Troop and Headquarters Troop First Sergeant in the Squadron from 2006 to 2008, was an attendee at the course in January of this year. CSM Kenny is currently the Division Command Sergeant Major for the 1st Cavalry Division at Ft. Hood, Texas. It was a real pleasure to have Tom in my inaugural class and to celebrate his continued success as a leader in our Army. GarryOwen and First Team!

I would also like to congratulate Colonel Mike Konczey on his successful completion of brigade command. Mike commanded the 434th Field Artillery Brigade at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, and over the past two years the brigade was responsible for transforming over 30,000 civilians into Soldiers. Mike served as the 5-7 CAV Operations Officer and Executive Officer during the Squadron's deployment to Iraq in 2007-2008; he and his wife Tamra will next serve in South Korea.

COL Mike Konzey receiving the Legion of Merit

COL Chris Mahaffey has a new position as well. Chris is now the State Command Inspector General for the Arizona National Guard. Some of you may remember Chris as the speaker at one of our Veterans Day banquets while he was the Squadron Commander (2015-2017). We wish him the best in his new role and for any of you in Arizona who may find need for help, you can reach Chris through me.

Our History

Did you know that the 5/7 Cavalry boasts 52 different unit decorations and campaign streamers on its colors? Next time you see our Color Guard check it out. This includes 37 campaign participation streamers, the Combat Infantry Battalion streamer, and 14 unit decorations that include numerous Presidential Unit Citations, Valorous Unit Awards and even the Navy Unit Commendation! From the infamous Little Bighorn to the Mexican Expedition, Pacific island hopping in World War II to the bitter cold of Korea, the vicious A Shau Valley of Vietnam to Anbar Province in Iraq, the 5th of the 7th Cavalry has always answered the nation's call with consummate bravery and professionalism.

1st Vice President Emeritus' Report

IN THE SUMMERTIME

Well in a normal summertime we would all be planning our arrivals at the 5/7 Cav association reunion somewhere. Not this summertime as we had a stinky old virus that made us postpone to 2021. This just gives us an extra year to save and plan as the behind the scenes of the BOD goes on.

I was lucky when the powers that be declared my part time driving job as essential. I've been driving anywhere from 1,500 to 2,000 miles a week so the lock down hasn't been too bad. I hope the lock down for all of you has not been too bad.

Recently, I was asked to explain why we had a few KIAs listed that were from different units other than the 5/7. There are a couple of different factors involved. The first being that shortly after the original 5/7 battalion arrived in Vietnam, around about September or October 1966, someone decided that we should be broken up and sent to other units so the whole Battalion would not rotate back to the U.S. at the same time. This led to 5/7 troopers being sent to other Cav units. A couple of these are: Kazimienz H Slomiany A 66, KIA with the 2nd of the 5th and James P Burns, C 66, KIA with 1st of the 8th. The next group are the Artillery FOs. Then there is an MIA. He was Major Frederick Krupa, C 68. He was on his second tour with the Special Forces in the Delta, where he was reported MIA after falling from a helicopter and not recovered. That's the story. After training as a battalion, we were broken up over the year and most left Vietnam for other units.

I am slowly restocking the pins in the PX. As we are not having the reunion, I did not make a huge order of items. We did add some 5th Squadron related pins to the inventory.

Be cool – Stay Safe – All this crap will soon pass.

Hopefully see you all in DC on November 10th & 11th.

Respectfully,
"Krazy" Karl

Letter

To 5/7 Cav assoc. I would like to thank everyone for the beautiful flowers for my husband Larry "Joe" Vanderveen. Also thanks to all brothers who attended the service and made it wonderful.

Love,

Marcia Vanderveen

Independence Day is a federal holiday in the United States commemorating the Declaration of Independence of the United States on July 4, 1776. The Continental Congress declared that the thirteen American colonies were no longer subject to the monarch of Britain and were now united, free, and independent states.

Richard Bauer with Some Financial News

Hello All,

Just a quick catch up, trust you are all well in your various bunkers. Some of you know that I'm still hunkered down in the Catskills (150 miles from NYC) and things are going well. Managed to get a haircut the other day at the local salon, kind of looks like my old Army buzz cut.

You may already know about this but wasn't going to assume that you did, so if this is duplication of effort then hit the delete button.

If you and/or spouse/significant other are taking retirement money out of an IRA or 401(k) or 403 (b) you should know about this.

When you get to a certain age (most of you are already passed it like me) the IRS rules say that you have to take out a Required Minimum Distribution – RMD. I just learned from one of the money managers where I have funds that in all the legislation passed in the spring, they allowed the waiving of the RMD for 2020. Unless I missed it somewhere, I haven't seen or heard any talk about this in the news or the other usual places that might carry it.

I did check with my accountant and he said yes this was a real thing and passed on to me an article from US News that gives a more detailed explanation – <https://money.usnews.com/money/retirement/iras/articles/how-to-skip-your-required-minimum-distribution-this-year>

So that's the basic info and you may want to research this more for yourselves. Already found that the IRS website is useless, probably better off talking with your accountant and decide what you can and want to do about it. Could save on your federal and state taxes for this year. Also pass this along to others you know that might be in the same boat.

Garry Owen,
Richard

SUBJECT: Update on the Warpaint Squadron

26 May 2020

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I sincerely hope this finds the friends and alumni of the Squadron well, and healthy in these strange times we find ourselves.

The Squadron is as busy as ever! We returned from the National Training Center (NTC), Rotation 20-04 in March. This was our certifying event that places the 1st Armored Brigade Combat Team, of which we are a part, at the highest state of readiness for any ABCT across the Army formation. The Squadron performed superbly, and was lauded by the FORSCOM CG, General Garrett, and the Commander of Operations Group, COL Simmering, as the most aggressive Cavalry Squadron that they had seen in almost two years-worth of rotations. Unique to this rotation, the Squadron had the opportunity to work with the Royal Dragoons from the United Kingdom, as they sent a Troop's worth of scouts to augment the Squadron, and assisted in the Cavalry's success.

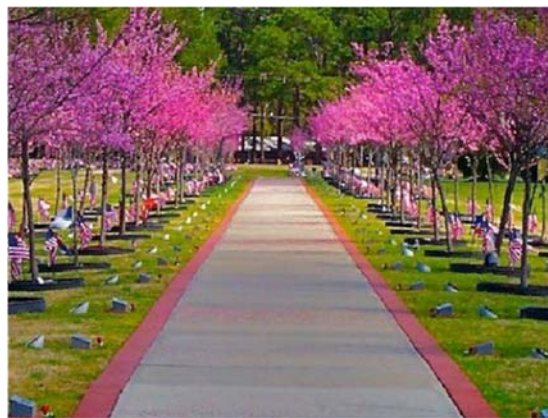

Subsequent to NTC, we have found ourselves navigating this concept of "Minimal Readiness Manning" as a result of the government's COVID-19 response. Admittedly, for the Squadron, this has changed precious little in terms of who shows up day-to-day – it's impossible to tele-work on Abrams and Bradleys! In April, the Squadron ran the Quarantine and Isolation Facility for the Division – caring for those individuals who had either suspected or confirmed cases of COVID-19. While certainly not glamorous, this was critical to support the Division and the Fort Stewart Installation as a whole as a means of containing those who were sick, or were suspected of being sick.

Simultaneously, we have focused the Squadron's efforts on maintenance, Annual Services on our equipment, and preparing for gunnery. We roll out to conduct crew qualifications on the 8th of June, but even this poses interesting challenges as the Squadron conducts simulation training and prepares to roll out while maintaining the same social-distancing norms. Medics with thermometers routinely screening personnel, masks, and double-arm intervals have become part of this organization's daily routine, and will continue to be so for the foreseeable future. At least until the pandemic is behind us.

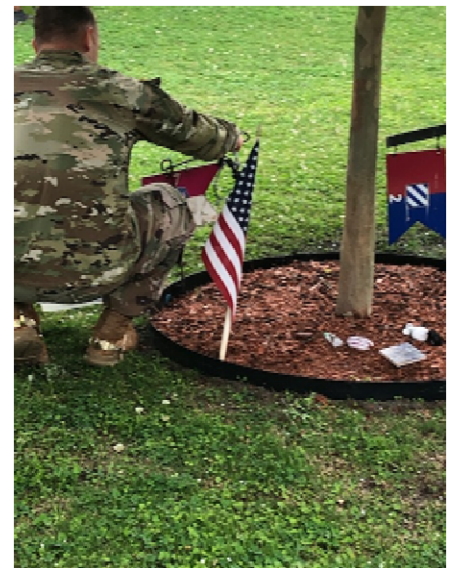

Even though operations aren't "as normal," the Squadron still took the time to honor those that came before. On Memorial Day, 25MAY, the Officers, NCOs, and Soldiers conducted a memorial workout, and then spent the day fixing the signs on Warrior's Walk for all the fallen. For those not familiar, Warrior's Walk is a memorial, where a tree is planted for each Soldier that has been killed in battle in 3ID during the Global War on Terror. The Squadron has 17 trees planted there for its 17 personnel – it was a terrific opportunity to honor our fallen Troopers and reflect on their sacrifice.

As always, if you find yourself in the Fort Stewart area, or if there's ever any questions you might have concerning the Squadron's activities, please don't hesitate to reach out. I can be found at adam.f.latham.mil@mail.mil or at 912-532-0912. Take care, stay healthy, and GARRY OWEN!
